6. What this sheet does and does not record

Records: the fields present in the files and the values in them. Does not record: what any field means. A document-management date field is evidence of what that system recorded against the document; it is not, without more, evidence of when a document was drafted, settled or decided. A /CreationDate is the date the PDF was written, not the date the underlying document was made. No conclusion is drawn here from the presence, absence or value of any field.
