Subject: Request for medical information, Metro South Health, 31 July 2026 — instruction for report — Cory Shepherd (DOB 11/01/1991)

Dear Dr Krishnaiah,

My employer, Metro South Hospital and Health Service, has asked for medical information about my condition and my capacity for work. I attach a letter of instruction for a report answering that request, together with the five attachments it refers to. The report also addresses the matters in issue in my Queensland Industrial Relations Commission proceeding WC/2024/227, and I attach a copy of the Notice of Non-Party Disclosure served on your practice in that proceeding.

I am self-represented and have prepared the instruction myself. I have set it out in the way I understand an expert is ordinarily instructed: the facts I ask you to assume are identified by their source, and the matters the Regulator does not accept are identified as well, so that you have the position complete rather than one side of it.

The letter asks you to assume the facts recorded in Attachments 1 to 3 and 5, which are documents of the Workers' Compensation Regulator and of my employer. My own account of the workplace is provided as context only and is not the basis on which I ask you to reason.

I understand the cost of the report is being met by Metro South Hospital and Health Service. For completeness: the report is instructed by me, and I ask that it be provided to me on completion, prepared as a standalone report in the form the letter describes. Could you please confirm the time you would require. If any part of the instruction is unclear, or if you require further material before you can report, please tell me and I will provide it.

As the report is prepared for use in proceedings before the Commission and may be provided to my employer, I would be grateful if it could be issued without the standard restriction on medico-legal use that appears on correspondence from the practice.

Kind regards,

Cory Lea Shepherd
