Subject: Leave Cory Shepherd

Hi Scott,

I apologize for today; I am currently without my phone due to family issues and complications with my ex-partner while i was moving yesterday. I am seeking complete privacy and unable to use my phone at the moment. However, I am happy to join a Teams meeting or call on my laptop. Additionally, I have a court hearing tomorrow, which has added to the challenges.

Given these circumstances, I would like to request three days of leave. I look forward to returning to work and will purchase a new phone today. I have attached the leave form. My sincerest apologies.

Kind regards,
Cory

Hi Cory,

For the first week you will be supernumerary as we do need to re-integrate you back into the workplace after a relatively long break, so you won't be working shifts in that first week. Scott Hughes is the Director of Corporate Services and he would like to welcome you back on Monday, and fill you in on the various updates.

I'm mindful that on Monday morning you won't yet have things like your Logan Hospital ID and proximity access card, so how about I suggest to Scott that he meet you in the Logan Hospital lobby at the front entrance at 7am, and then he can get you settled in.

Regards
Estelle

Hi Estelle and Jacqui,

Thank you for reaching out and for the opportunity to return to work on Monday. I'm eager to get started and catch up on everything. Please let me know what time you'd like me to come in on the 24th.

I'm looking forward to receiving the upcoming roster. Regarding my leave request, would it be possible to integrate me into the Tuesday night shift instead? I find the night shift more conducive to catching up on modules due to the lower call volume and downtime on the switchboard. Alternatively, I'm happy to rotate out of the Tuesday shift completely.

If neither of those options is feasible, I understand and can complete a leave form. I'm confident in my ability to quickly catch up with the department's needs, so please don't worry.

Thanks for your support.

Kind regards,

Cory

Dear Cory

I am contacting you to confirm my understanding that your return to work will take effect from Monday 24 February 2025. My colleague Jacqui and I are communicating with the relevant leaders in Corporate Services (where Switchboard is now reporting) to confirm the practical details of your return. I have suggested a gentle re-introduction during the first week to allow you to be brought up to speed with the relevant changes that have occurred in the workplace while you have been away, as well as to update any mandatory training you may need to complete.

Jacqui and I are also liaising with the relevant leaders to work through the practicalities of getting you back onto the Payroll system and while this won't be immediate, we will certainly endeavour to progress it as swiftly as possible. Other practical elements, such as your roster beyond the first week, will also be worked through as soon as possible.

I understand that you wish to apply for leave on Tuesday 25 February 2025, and I have attached a leave form for your completion.

At this stage we are just waiting for some detail from Corporate Services as to where you will be located on Monday, and we'll confirm that as soon as possible.

In the meantime, could you please reach out to me and Jacqui if you have any questions?

Kind regards
Estelle

Good morning Scott,

Recent personal events during my attempts to separate from my partner have been very stressful. Over the past two months, I have been accessing Telus counseling services to provide evidence of the situation. I believe it is best to mentally recover from the ordeal and take leave until Monday, March 3rd, 2025. I am happy to supply supporting documents upon request. I also have a new phone and can call you today if there is a convenient time.

Kind regards,

Hi Scott,

I apologize for today; I am currently without my phone due to family issues and complications with my ex-partner while i was moving yesterday. I am seeking complete privacy and unable to use my phone at the moment. However, I am happy to join a Teams meeting or call on my laptop. Additionally, I have a court hearing tomorrow, which has added to the challenges.

Given these circumstances, I would like to request three days of leave. I look forward to returning to work and will purchase a new phone today. I have attached the leave form. My sincerest apologies.

Kind regards,
Cory

Good morning Scott,

Recent personal events during my attempts to separate from my partner have been very stressful. Over the past two months, I have been accessing Telus counseling services to provide evidence of the situation. I believe it is best to mentally recover from the ordeal and take leave until Monday, March 3rd, 2025. I am happy to supply supporting documents upon request. I also have a new phone and can call you today if there is a convenient time.

Kind regards,
Cory

Hi Scott,

I apologize for today; I am currently without my phone due to family issues and complications with my ex-partner while i was moving yesterday. I am seeking complete privacy and unable to use my phone at the moment. However, I am happy to join a Teams meeting or call on my laptop. Additionally, I have a court hearing tomorrow, which has added to the challenges.

Given these circumstances, I would like to request three days of leave. I look forward to returning to work and will purchase a new phone today. I have attached the leave form. My sincerest apologies.

Kind regards,
Cory

Could you please confirm if I need to come by your office before signing off? Additionally, can you forward the roster to my personal email until my work email is set up? I'd also appreciate it if we could keep our conversation private but can forward you some documents if needed. I would prefer to start back next Tuesday and take tomorrow off to deal with some stress. Let me know when you're available. Thanks a lot!

Hey Scott,

Could you please confirm if I need to come by your office before signing off? Additionally, can you forward the roster to my personal email until my work email is set up? I'd also appreciate it if we could keep our conversation private but can forward you some documents if needed. I would prefer to start back next Tuesday and take tomorrow off to deal with some stress. Let me know when you're available. Thanks a lot!

Best regards,

Cory

Good morning Scott,

Recent personal events during my attempts to separate from my partner have been very stressful.
Over the past two months, I have been accessing Telus counseling services to provide evidence of the situation. I believe it is best to mentally recover from the ordeal and take leave until Monday, March 3rd, 2025. I am happy to supply supporting documents upon request. I also have a new phone and can call you today if there is a convenient time.

Kind regards,
Cory

Hi Scott,

I apologize for today; I am currently without my phone due to family issues and complications with my ex-partner while i was moving yesterday. I am seeking complete privacy and unable to use my phone at the moment. However, I am happy to join a Teams meeting or call on my laptop. Additionally, I have a court hearing tomorrow, which has added to the challenges.

Given these circumstances, I would like to request three days of leave. I look forward to returning to work and will purchase a new phone today. I have attached the leave form. My sincerest apologies.

Kind regards,
Cory

Hey Scott,

apologies for the late message. But I live on the Gold Coast and just got power back. My car was completely submerged in the underground car park at Royal Pines and looking at the public transport just before shows that the trains are not running due to the weather.

My case today was also canceled. I will touch base tomorrow but as of right now I would like to give notice that I will not be in for my shift tomorrow. I apologise for the inconvenience and a horrible way to get back to work but have not had the best luck.

I hope you and the team stay safe.

Good morning Scott,

I'm writing to update you regarding the complex and personal legal matter that has unfortunately impacted my availability. Due to legal directions, I've been unable to return home since last week, and my court case has been adjourned with a new date to be advised. I am currently contesting the new directions and other accusations.

I am working closely with my lawyer and again have a meeting with him to resolve this issue as quickly as possible. I sincerely apologize for any disruption this may cause. I am extremely stressed and unable to sleep due this situation.

For the immediate time, I request the rest of the week off until the 17th of March 2025. However, if I can resolve the matter sooner, I would like to get back on board prior to this.

Thank you for your understanding. For further context, I've attached a previous document outlining the situation. Please know that this information is shared with you in strict confidence.

Sincerely,

Cory

Hey Scott,

Could you please confirm if I need to come by your office before signing off? Additionally, can you forward the roster to my personal email until my work email is set up? I'd also appreciate it if we could keep our conversation private but can forward you some documents if needed. I would prefer to start back next Tuesday and take tomorrow off to deal with some stress. Let me know when you're available. Thanks a lot!

Best regards,
Cory

Good morning Scott,

I'm writing to update you regarding the complex and personal legal matter that has unfortunately impacted my availability. Due to legal directions, I've been unable to return home since last week, and my court case has been adjourned with a new date to be advised. I am currently contesting the new directions and other accusations.

I am working closely with my lawyer and again have a meeting with him to resolve this issue as quickly as possible. I sincerely apologize for any disruption this may cause. I am extremely stressed and unable to sleep due this situation.

For the immediate time, I request the rest of the week off until the 17th of March 2025. However, if I can resolve the matter sooner, I would like to get back on board prior to this.

Thank you for your understanding. For further context, I've attached a previous document outlining the situation. Please know that this information is shared with you in strict confidence.

Sincerely,

Cory

Hey Scott,

apologies for the late message. But I live on the Gold Coast and just got power back. My car was completely submerged in the underground car park at Royal Pines and looking at the public transport just before shows that the trains are not running due to the weather.

My case today was also canceled. I will touch base tomorrow but as of right now I would like to give notice that I will not be in for my shift tomorrow. I apologise for the inconvenience and a horrible way to get back to work but have not had the best luck.

I hope you and the team stay safe.

Good morning Scott,

I hope all is well. I should have messages sooner than this morning however I just wasn't sure about everything.

I am still under extreme emotional distress and will need more time to recover. I have the final court date on the 4th of April 2025.

I will need time off until after this and everything has passed. I am sorry and it was extremely bad timing. I reviewed your email, and the roster looked ok I just wasn't sure about my health over the week.

Kind regards,

contesting the new directions and other accusations.

I am working closely with my lawyer and again have a meeting with him to resolve this issue as quickly as possible. I sincerely apologize for any disruption this may cause. I am extremely stressed and unable to sleep due this situation.

For the immediate time, I request the rest of the week off until the 17th of March 2025. However, if I can resolve the matter sooner, I would like to get back on board prior to this.

Thank you for your understanding. For further context, I've attached a previous document outlining the situation. Please know that this information is shared with you in strict confidence.

Sincerely,

Cory

Good morning Scott,

I'm writing to update you regarding the complex and personal legal matter that has unfortunately impacted my availability. Due to legal directions, I've been unable to return home since last week, and my court case has been adjourned with a new date to be advised. I am currently contesting the new directions and other accusations.

I am working closely with my lawyer and again have a meeting with him to resolve this issue as quickly as possible. I sincerely apologize for any disruption this may cause. I am extremely stressed and unable to sleep due this situation.

For the immediate time, I request the rest of the week off until the 17th of March 2025. However, if I can resolve the matter sooner, I would like to get back on board prior to this.

Support for employees affected by domestic and family violence

Directive 03/20 | Supersedes: 04/15

Commission Chief Executive and Minister for Industrial Relations Directive

This text box does not form part of the directive

Under the Human Rights Act 2019 decision makers have an obligation to act and make decisions in a way that is compatible with human rights, and when making a decision under this directive, to give proper consideration to human rights.

1. Purpose

This directive supports the Queensland Government's commitment to end domestic and family violence in Queensland and establishes:

- policy and capability building requirements for agencies
- entitlements to domestic and family violence support options in addition to those provided by the Industrial Relations Act 2016
- options to support employees affected by domestic and family violence.

2. Effective date

3 July 2020

3. Legislative provisions

Sections 53 to 54A, 55 of the Public Service Act 2008 (PS Act)

4. Application

This directive applies to public service employees as defined under the PS Act, including chief executives, senior executives and senior officers.

5. Previous references

Commission Chief Executive Directive 04/15

- Industrial Relations Act 2016
- Human Rights Act 2019
- Code of Conduct for the Queensland Public Service
- Workplace DFV support package

7. Principles

- 7.1 The Queensland Government is strongly committed to providing a healthy and safe working environment for all public service employees. It is recognised that employees sometimes face difficult situations in their work and personal life, such as domestic and family violence, that may affect their attendance, performance at work and/or safety. The workplace can make a significant difference to employees affected by domestic and family violence by providing appropriate safety and support measures.
- 7.2 Domestic and family violence occurs when one person in a relationship uses violence or abuse to maintain power and control over the other person. Domestic and family violence can include behaviour that is physically, sexually, emotionally, psychologically or economically abusive, threatening, coercive or that controls or dominates the other person through fear for their own or another person's safety or wellbeing.
- 7.3 Domestic and family violence can affect people of all cultures, religions, ages, genders, sexual orientations, educational backgrounds and income levels.
- 7.4 Domestic and family violence is unacceptable in any setting, including the workplace. A public service employee must not perpetrate domestic and family violence from or in the workplace, including using agency assets or equipment such as work vehicle, telephone, fax, mail, email, internet or social media. A breach of this direction by an employee may result in disciplinary action.
- 7.5 Employees are expected to treat all persons with respect, including other employees, clients and the general public.
- 7.6 Fostering a respectful, inclusive, gender equitable workplace culture, where employees affected by domestic and family violence are supported, contributes to a positive, healthy and safe working environment for all.

8. Confidentiality and disclosure

- 8.1 Confidentiality is critical to ensure the safety of employees affected by domestic and family violence and to encourage affected employees to disclose and seek support.
- 8.2 To enable support and safety measures to be put in place, affected employees are encouraged to disclose information, particularly in relation to a domestic violence order that names or affects the workplace. However, subject to any legal obligation to disclose information, employees have the right to choose whether, when and to whom they disclose information about being affected by domestic and family violence.
- 8.3 Information disclosed by an employee in relation to domestic and family violence must be kept confidential, except to the extent that disclosure is required or permitted by law, or it is necessary for the information to be disclosed to support the employee in the workplace.
- 8.4 Leave applications should be processed in such a way as to maximise confidentiality.

9. Policy, capability development and awareness raising

- 9.1 A chief executive is responsible for ensuring the agency:
 - a) has a policy that outlines the workplace commitment to supporting employees affected by domestic and family violence
 - b) promotes employee awareness of the policy and related support options, including how to access support and advice

- c) develops and maintains organisational capability to respond supportively to employees affected by domestic and family violence, such as face-to-face training for managers, relevant human resources staff and designated domestic and family DFV support staff
- d) makes available, promotes and requires all employees to complete¹ modules 1–4 of the online DFV awareness raising program Recognise, Respond, Refer, or an alternative nominated by the Commission Chief Executive, or delegate.

10. Support options available to employees

10.1 A range of support options is available to assist employees affected by domestic and family violence. Support arrangements should be reviewed regularly to ensure they remain appropriate and can be adjusted to provide suitable supports where circumstances change.

Expectations around supporting documentation

10.2 When considering support options for an employee, any communication regarding supporting documentation must recognise the importance of compassionate and understanding workplaces and must be conducted in a sensitive and non-judgmental manner. Any documentation sighted must be returned to the employee unless the employee requests otherwise.

Leave entitlement

- 10.3 Subject to clause 10.5, an employee affected by domestic and family violence will have access to a minimum of 10 days paid leave per year:
- a) without being required to provide supporting documentation
 - b) without being required to first use other leave types
 - c) which may be taken as consecutive days, single days or a fraction of a day
 - d) for purposes arising from domestic and family violence or supporting a person affected by domestic and family violence. Purposes may include but are not limited to attending medical, legal, police or counselling appointments; attending court and other legal proceedings; and organising alternative accommodation, care or education arrangements
 - e) which does not accrue from year to year and is not an entitlement to be paid out on separation.
- 10.4 For the purpose of clause 10.3 above and acknowledging the complexity of domestic and family violence situations, additional paid leave in excess of 10 paid days of leave per year may be approved at the discretion of the chief executive or delegate having regard to the individual circumstances and needs of the employee affected by domestic and family violence.

The purpose of the additional leave is to provide support where there are extenuating circumstances such as, for example, to support a family affected by domestic and family violence in a regional area where travel to court attendances may take several days, or where safety risks for the family and children require time to organise changes in accommodation or care arrangements. Any discussion of support options, including leave, is to be compassionate, sensitive and maintain confidentiality for the employee.

10.5 An employee who is applying for leave related to their use, alleged use or potential use of domestic and family violence is not entitled to leave under either clause 10.3 or 10.4, unless all the following are satisfied:

- a) the leave is required to attend a behavioural change program approved under section 75 of the Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 2012 by the chief executive of the department administering that Act, delivered by a provider approved under that section;
- b) the employee provides written evidence of their enrolment and attendance in the program referred to in clause 10.5(a); and
- c) the employee has exhausted all other paid recreation or long service leave and accrued time.

Note: The restrictions in clause 10.5 apply only to leave related to an employee's use, potential use or alleged use of domestic and family violence. If the employee is affected by domestic and family violence (for example, they are named as the aggrieved in an application for a domestic violence order, but are also named as the respondent to a cross application being considered at the same court proceeding) then the entitlements in clauses 10.3 and 10.4 continue to apply in relation to their experience of, rather than their use, potential use or alleged use of, domestic and family violence. A person who is experiencing domestic and family violence should not have their support options, including leave entitlements, reduced because they are named as the respondent in a counter claim.

10.6 This directive does not alter any other paid or unpaid leave that may be accessed by a public service employee in accordance with the directives for special leave, sick leave, carers leave, recreation leave, long service leave or other accrued time. These may also be used to attend to matters arising from domestic and family violence where the conditions for leave under those directives are met.

Flexible working arrangements

10.7 A chief executive or delegate will provide employees affected by domestic and family violence (other than those who use or may use domestic and family violence) access to flexible working arrangements. Employees who use or may use domestic violence may request flexible working arrangements under the conditions set out in the Industrial Relations Act 2016, in the same way as other employees. Employees are encouraged to discuss their request for flexible working arrangements with their managers, in the first instance.

Counselling support services

10.8 The chief executive or delegate will ensure the agency has an employee assistance provider (EAP) or similar, available to all employees and their immediate family members. The EAP should offer free and confidential support services through face-to-face, telephone and/or online counselling.

10.9 The EAP should also provide specific advice to managers and supervisors on how best to support employees affected by domestic and family violence.

Other workplace supports and role adjustments

10.10 The chief executive or delegate will also, wherever appropriate:

- a) conduct risk assessments and implement workplace safety needs and arrangements such as increased security measures to protect affected employees and colleagues;
- b) support employees to have the workplace included in a Domestic Violence Order issued by the courts; and
- c) consider providing other temporary or permanent support and reasonable adjustments in the workplace, such as:
 - job redesign or changes to duties
 - changes to working hours or patterns of work
 - alternative suitable employment in other teams, offices, locations and agencies
 - changes to email addresses and telephone numbers and email blocking
 - removal of public access to contact details including online profiles
 - secure parking
 - support to transfer or relocate, where practicable.

Support in relation to work performance and attendance

10.11 Work performance or attendance may be influenced by factors not connected with work. Employees will be supported and encouraged to raise concerns about their personal circumstances, including whether domestic and family violence is a contributing factor to work performance and attendance.

10.12 It may also be necessary to include additional support and provide reasonable workplace and role adjustments for a period of time. Regular reviews, a return to work plan or a performance improvement process may still be required.

11. Responsibilities

11.1 Leaders/managers/supervisors will:

- a) model the public service values, including by behaving in a way that promotes a work environment free from any form of violence
- b) actively participate in domestic and family violence related learning and development activities offered by the workplace to effectively communicate with and provide support to employees affected by domestic and family violence
- c) ensure employees actively participate in required domestic and family violence-related learning and development activities and awareness raising activities offered by the workplace²
- d) sensitively communicate with employees affected by domestic and family violence and maintain confidentiality subject to legal disclosure obligations
- e) take prompt and appropriate action to support employees affected by domestic and family violence including providing workplace support options and risk management and safety planning as required

² Except where this may genuinely negatively impact their wellbeing.

- f) ensure appropriate levels of support are provided to employees affected by domestic and family violence
 - g) ensure employees are aware of available support options and appropriate nominated officers to disclose to and seek support from, as required
 - h) ensure appropriate and sensitive management of any work performance and monitoring of attendance issues, keeping in mind the potential effects of domestic and family violence.

11.2 Employees will:

- a) model the public service values, including behaving in a way that promotes a work environment free from any form of violence and abuse
- b) actively participate in domestic and family violence-related learning and development and awareness raising activities such as online domestic and family violence awareness raising programs, except where this may genuinely negatively impact their wellbeing
- c) sensitively communicate with colleagues affected by domestic and family violence and maintain confidentiality, and where appropriate, encourage them to seek assistance
- d) familiarise themselves with available workplace support options and appropriate contact officers for support.

12. Definitions

Unless otherwise defined, the terms in this directive have the meaning set out in the Public Service Act 2008.

Domestic and family violence has the same meaning as domestic violence as defined in the Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 2012.

An employee who uses or may use domestic and family violence is an employee:

- a) who has voluntarily identified as a person who uses, or is at risk of using domestic and family violence; or
- b) who has been named as a respondent to an existing application for a domestic violence order or police protection notice; or
- c) to whom a domestic violence order or police protection notice currently applies; or
- d) who has been charged with a domestic and family violence offence by a law enforcement agency and charges remain pending; or
- e) who has been found to be using domestic and family violence by a court.

1 Policy statement

Queensland Health will provide employees affected by domestic and family violence with support, including options for leave, flexible working arrangements and access to counselling.

Queensland Health is strongly committed to providing a healthy and safe working environment for all employees. It is recognised that employees sometimes face difficult situations in their work and personal life, such as domestic and family violence, that may affect their attendance, performance at work and/or safety.

Domestic and family violence occurs when one person in a relationship uses violence and abuse to maintain power and control over the other person. This can include behaviour that is physically, sexually, emotionally, psychologically or economically abusive, threatening, coercive, or aimed at controlling or dominating the other person through fear.

Domestic and family violence can affect people of all cultures, religions, ages, genders, sexual orientations, educational backgrounds and income levels.

All employees, including leaders, managers and supervisors, are committed to making Queensland Health a healthy and safe place to work. Queensland Health can make a significant difference to employees affected by domestic and family violence by providing appropriate safety and support measures. Fostering a workplace culture where employees affected by domestic and family violence are supported in the workplace, contributes to a healthy and safe working environment for all.

All employees have a responsibility to model the public service values, which includes behaving in a way that promotes a work environment free from any form of violence and supporting those who are affected by domestic and family violence.

Domestic and family violence is unacceptable in any setting. Any Queensland Health employee who perpetrates violence and abuse from the workplace, including by telephone, fax, mail, email, internet or social media may be subject to disciplinary action.

1.1 Confidentiality and disclosure

Employees have the right to choose whether, when and to whom they disclose information about being affected by domestic and family violence, however this policy does not override any legal obligations to disclose information. Information disclosed by an employee in relation to domestic and family violence will be kept confidential, except to the extent that disclosure is required or permitted by law.

1.2 Awareness raising

Employees are encouraged to complete the online awareness raising program, Recognise, Respond, Refer: Domestic Violence and the Workplace, jointly developed by the Queensland Government and Australia's CEO Challenge. Whilst not mandatory, all employees are encouraged to complete the introduction module. All managers and supervisors are strongly encouraged to complete the full online program. Queensland Health acknowledges that some employees may find the content confronting.

1.3 Documentation

Queensland Health acknowledges that employees affected by domestic and family violence may not be in a position to provide documentation to support their access to leave and other assistance. An employee's access to support options should not be denied in the absence of supporting documentation.

Any communications relating to supporting documentation must be conducted in a sensitive and non-judgmental manner. Any documentation sighted must be returned to the employee unless the employee requests otherwise. Where the employee requests support documentation be retained in the workplace, such documentation is to be marked as confidential and stored in a secure location.

1.4 Work performance and attendance

Managers and supervisors are to recognise that work performance and/or attendance may be influenced by factors not connected with work. Employees are to be supported and encouraged to raise concerns about their personal circumstances, including whether domestic and family violence is a contributing factor to work performance and attendance.

Employees may require additional support and access to reasonable workplace and role adjustments for a period of time. Regular reviews, a return to work plan and a performance improvement process may still be required, however.

2 Support options

A range of support options are available to assist employees affected by domestic and family violence. Managers/supervisors are to work with affected employees to facilitate measures that best support the individual employee's needs and workplace outcomes. Access to any support options should not be denied due to operational inconvenience where the health and safety of an employee is at risk.

2.1 Paid special leave

An employee who is affected by domestic and family violence and to whom the PSC Directive relating to support for employees affected by domestic and family violence applies (i.e. permanent, temporary and casual employees) will have access to a minimum of 10 days per year of paid leave for the purposes of attending to matters arising from domestic and family violence. Access to this leave is extended to individuals providing support to another person directly affected by domestic and family violence. The reasons for access to such leave may include, but are not limited to:

- attending medical, legal, police or counselling appointments
- attending court and other legal proceedings
- organising alternative accommodation
- organising care or education arrangements for children.

Leave is also available to an employee who is a perpetrator (or potential perpetrator) of domestic and family violence to assist with or encourage participation in domestic violence behaviour change programs.

Leave should be granted where the delegate is satisfied that the employee requires leave because the employee is affected by domestic and family violence. Leave should not be denied in the absence of supporting documentation.

An employee is not required to use other leave entitlements before accessing this leave provision.

This leave can be taken as consecutive days, single days or a fraction of a day.

Paid special leave for matters relating to domestic and family violence is available to full time, part-time and casual employees. Part-time and casual employees are to receive access to paid leave on a pro rata basis. As some casuals will have a short work history with the Department of Health/Hospital and Health Service or an intermittent or infrequent work pattern, applications for paid leave for casual employees should be considered on a case-by-case basis, taking into consideration the individual's circumstances.

An employee may also access further paid or unpaid leave including special leave, sick leave, carer's leave, recreation leave, long service leave or other accrued time to attend to matters arising from domestic and family violence, in accordance with relevant policy and/or industrial instruments.

2.2 Flexible working arrangements

An employee who is affected by domestic and family violence is to be provided with access to flexible working arrangements in accordance with the Flexible Working Arrangements HR Policy C5. Other options for workplace flexibility not specified in the policy may be adopted providing they are supported within the industrial framework. Your local HR unit can provide guidance on flexible workplace options.

Flexible work options may be required for an interim period or for a longer term. Employees are encouraged to discuss their request for flexible working arrangements with their manager/supervisor. Managers/supervisors are to support applications for flexible work options for employees who are affected by domestic and family violence.

2.3 Counselling support services

All employees affected by domestic and family violence are to be made aware of and given access to the Queensland Health Employee Assistance Service (EAS). The EAS is available to all employees and their immediate family members and offers free and confidential support services through face-to-face, telephone and online counselling, with six EAS sessions per calendar year available to each employee. At the authorised delegate's discretion, the business area responsible for the employee is able to approve additional EAS sessions to support an employee.

Where an employee requires urgent and specific support, the EAS provider is able to facilitate dedicated domestic and family violence support service assistance for the employee.

The EAS also includes a manager assist program providing free and confidential specialist advisory services for managers and supervisors. The manager assist service can be accessed for guidance in supporting an employee affected by domestic and family violence. A manager/supervisor can access this service for guidance regarding how to support their employees at any time, independent of their own access to personal counselling with the EAS provider.

Further information regarding EAS, including contact details, can be accessed on QHEPS at: <https://qheps.health.qld.gov.au/csd/employee-centre/workhealth-safety-wellbeing/employee-assistance-service-providers>.

2.4 Safety and wellbeing

Queensland Health has obligations under the Work Health and Safety Act 2011 to provide a safe workplace for its employees. The safety and wellbeing of employees is paramount to the organisation. Fostering a workplace culture where employees affected by domestic and family violence are supported contributes to a healthy and safe working environment for all.

In situations where an employee affected by domestic and family violence is concerned for their safety or that of their colleagues, it is recommended that the employee work in consultation with their manager/supervisor and local occupational health and safety officer to undertake a safety and risk assessment. The safety and risk assessment may identify the need for a tailored workplace safety plan to be developed in collaboration with the employee. A safety plan should outline the specific workplace safety needs and any necessary support and reasonable adjustment arrangements, such as:

- any changes in relation to any work patterns, duties, hours, practices or work location (e.g. alternative temporary placement in another work team/location; temporary telecommuting arrangements)
- any precautionary plans to be undertaken pre or post-work (e.g. travel arrangements, secure car parking) to support the safety of the employee
- any workplace changes and/or security measures to protect the employee and their colleagues where necessary (e.g. change of work phone number and/or change of the employee's email address name component (e.g. `firstname.lastname@health.qld.gov.au` changed to `firstname.lastname3@health.qld.gov.au`)
- sharing information with the employee's work colleagues on a 'need to know' basis, regarding any necessary security requirements in order to protect the employee (e.g. establishing rules around disclosing the employee's changed contact details and/or location to unidentified callers)
- updated emergency contacts and/or next of kin details.

Safety plan arrangements should be reviewed at pre-determined intervals to ascertain ongoing appropriateness.

Resources specific to risk assessments and safety plans to support an employee in the workplace affected by domestic and family violence are available via the Queensland Health's domestic and family violence employee support QHEPS page.

3 Responsibilities

Attachment One outlines the responsibilities of delegates, managers and employees in supporting a colleague affected by domestic and family violence.

Definitions:

Domestic and family violence	Has the same meaning as 'domestic violence' as defined in the Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 2012 .
Employee	Unless otherwise stated, for the purposes of this policy, 'employee' includes permanent, temporary and casual employees, agency staff, Visiting Medical Officers, contractors, consultants, students, volunteers and others who exercise power or control resources for and on behalf of Queensland Health.

History:

July 2020	• Policy: – formatted as part of the HR Policy review – amended to update references and naming conventions – application amended as a result of changes to the Hospital and Health Boards (Changes to Prescribed Services) Amendment Regulation 2019.
April 2016	• This is a new HR policy implemented to meet requirements of Directive 4/15 – Support for employees affected by domestic and family violence. • Applicable to Department of Health employees only.

Attachment One – Responsibilities

1 Responsibilities of delegates

Delegates are to approve access to leave entitlements and other support options where they are satisfied the employee requires leave or assistance because the employee is affected by domestic and family violence.

2 Responsibilities of managers and supervisors

Managers/supervisors are to:

- model the public service values, including modelling behaviour that promotes a work environment free from any form of violence and harassment
- actively participate in domestic and family violence related learning and development activities to effectively communicate and manage any domestic violence arising in the workplace
- encourage employees to actively participate in domestic and family violence related learning and development activities
- sensitively communicate with employees affected by domestic and family violence and maintain employee confidentiality
- take prompt and appropriate action to address any reports of employees affected by domestic and family violence
- ensure appropriate levels of support are provided to employees affected by domestic and family violence
- ensure appropriate management of work performance and monitoring of attendance issues.

3 Responsibilities of employees

Employees are to:

- model the public service values, including behaving in a way that promotes a work environment free from any form of violence and harassment
- actively participate in domestic and family violence related learning and development activities
- sensitively communicate with colleagues affected by domestic and family violence
- ensure colleagues are aware of available support services and encourage colleagues to seek assistance
- notify their manager/supervisor if charged or convicted of an indictable offence.

Human Resources Policy

Employees to notify supervisor if charged with or convicted of an indictable offence

Policy Number: E4 (QH-POL-127)

Publication date: June 2022

Purpose: To outline the requirement for employees to notify Queensland Health if charged or convicted of an indictable offence.

Under the Human Rights Act 2019, decision makers have an obligation to act and make decisions in a way that is compatible with human rights, and when making a decision under this HR policy, to give proper consideration to human rights.

Application: This policy applies to all employees working for Queensland Health.

This policy does not apply to employees of Queensland Ambulance Service. Instead, Queensland Ambulance Service employees are to refer to their local policy/procedures.

Delegation: The 'delegate' is as listed in the relevant Department of Health Human Resource (HR) Delegations Manual, or Hospital and Health Services Human Resource (HR) Delegations Manual, as amended from time to time.

Legislative or other authority:

- Criminal Code Act 1899
- Human Rights Act 2019
- Public Service Act 2008
- Public Service Regulation 2018
- PSC Directive 07/11: Employment Screening

Related policy or documents:

- Code of Conduct for the Queensland Public Service

Policy subject:

1	Legislation	2
2	Requirement to notify	2
2.1	Requirement to provide written notification	2
2.2	Manager to notify local human resources	2
	Definitions:	2
	History:	3

1 Legislation

The requirement for an employee to give notice of charge or conviction for an indictable offence is legislated in section 181 of the Public Service Act 2008. The provisions are applied to health service employees under schedule 3 of the Public Service Regulation 2018.

2 Requirement to notify

An employee charged with or convicted of an indictable offence is to immediately notify their manager in writing, but not later than 48 hours after the charge or conviction.

The requirement to notify exists while a person is an employee of Queensland Health, including when the employee is on leave with or without pay, or on secondment to another agency.

Notification of a charge or conviction is required irrespective of whether the offence was committed in Australia or in another country.

Refer to the definitions section of this policy for information regarding what constitutes 'charged' or 'convicted', and for the definition of 'indictable offence'.

In addition to an action which may be considered an indictable offence under an Act, an omission to do something required under an Act may also be an indictable offence.

2.1 Requirement to provide written notification

If an employee is charged with an indictable offence the following information must be included in their written notification:

- that they have been charged
- the details of the alleged offence (which would include the specific charge being laid).

If an employee is convicted of an indictable offence the following information must be included in their written notification:

- the fact they were convicted
- the details of the offence
- the penalty imposed on the employee.

2.2 Manager to notify local human resources

The manager who is notified by an employee of a charge or conviction must report the details to the local human resources unit immediately (no later than two working days after the notification by the employee).

Definitions:

Charged	For the purpose of this policy, 'charged' includes: • being charged with an offence • being served with a 'Notice to Appear' or • served a 'Summons' to appear in a court to answer an alleged offence'.
---------	--

Convicted	For the purpose of this policy, 'convicted' includes a finding of guilt, whether or not a conviction is recorded.
Indictable offence	An offence for which a charge may be laid by indictment or an equivalent process, whether that is the only or an optional way to lay a charge of the offence. The Criminal Code Act 1899 specifies that offences may be criminal offences or regulatory offences. Criminal offences comprise crimes, misdemeanours and simple offences. Only offences designated as crimes and misdemeanours are indictable offences. With the exception of convictions under the Drugs Misuse Act 1986 when a person has been summarily convicted of an indictable offence, the conviction is deemed a conviction of a simple offence only, and not an indictable offence.

History:

June 2022	- Policy formatted as part of the HR Policy review - Policy updated to include reference to the Human Rights Act 2019.
June 2020	Policy application amended as a result of changes outlined in the Hospital and Health Boards (Changes to Prescribed Services) Amendment Regulation 2019.
January 2020	Policy formatted as part of the HR Policy review and updated to include reference to the Human Rights Act 2019.
August 2017	- Policy: - formatted as part of the HR Policy review - amended to update references and naming conventions - application excludes employees of Queensland Ambulance Service.
January 2014	- Policy formatted as part of the HR Policy Simplification project. - Policy amended to: - clarify information required in written notifications (section 2) - add section 3 (Manager to notify local human resources) - update definition section to include definitions for 'charged' and 'indictable offence', and remove the definition for 'misdemeanours' - update references and naming conventions.
January 2010	Amended to clarify notification requirements in section 7.1.
July 2008	Amended to reflect Public Service Regulation 2008.
April 2008	Developed as a result of the HR Policy framework consolidation project as an introduction document.

Good morning Scott,

Following up on your email regarding DV leave, I wanted to provide some context. The situation involves two separate domestic violence orders. Initially, I was the respondent to a temporary order. Subsequently, my ex-partner became the respondent in a new order. During this period, while she was in Perth, I was charged with breaching the now-terminated initial order. The allegations stem directly from our separation, which has made this process particularly challenging.

The past week has been exceptionally stressful. I've been attending psychiatric appointments, therapy sessions with Kathrine Vox through EPAC, and legal consultations.

Today, I need to attend court again for a hearing related to my case. I'd appreciate it if this could be kept confidential among staff.

Despite these circumstances, I am committed to returning to work on the 5th, following the hearing on the 4th.

Thank you for your understanding and discretion in this matter.

Good morning Scott,

I hope all is well. I should have messages sooner than this morning however I just wasn't sure about everything.

I am still under extreme emotional distress and will need more time to recover. I have the final court date on the 4th of April 2025.

I will need time off until after this and everything has passed. I am sorry and it was extremely bad timing. I reviewed your email, and the roster looked ok I just wasn't sure about my health over the week.

Kind regards,

Cory

Afternoon Cory,

I was unable to make the meeting you placed in my calendar for 05:00 on Monday , the invitation was received at 04:19 and I did not have the opportunity to see it in time to attend. For future reference, my working hours are 7am to 16.30.

I also value the context you have provided regarding the DV leave, this is such a delicate matter and once you have returned to work, we can meet and can discuss this in more detail to get this right for you as I may also require some further information. Until we have caught up, I will apply rec leave, which can be amended as required.

I appreciate managing medical and legal matters can be incredibly stressful and I understand this has likely been a challenging time for you, that said, it is important you provide adequate notice when you are unable to attend the workplace. Chloe has advised me you sent her a text on Thursday 27 March 2025, to let her know you would be returning to work on Monday 31 March 2025 but would require Friday 4 April 2025 off to attend a hearing.

Monday, via email sent at 4:19am, you have advised you will be returning to work on 5 April 2025. The reason for this is you are attending court again today Monday 31 March 2025; can you advise of the following.

You would have been provided with sufficient notice to attend court today, can you advise the reason you did not notify prior to 4:19 today would require today and the remainder of the week off? Other than today and Friday 4 April 2025, where you have advised you will not be in the workplace due to a court attendance and to attend a hearing, what is preventing you from being in work for the remainder of the week?

For noting, you are not rostered to work on Saturday 5 April 2025, your next rostered shift will be Monday 7 April 2025 and will book sometime for us to catch up.

Hey Scott,

The court matter was adjourned due to the cyclone and again at short notice due to some failings. I then had to prepare a civil matter which was referred to the magistrate court for the case against my ex-partner.

I will send some further documentation shortly. I apologize for the confusion caused by the mistakenly scheduled email.

I will be able to return to work on the 5th and will advise any further dates I will need to be away after the hearing tomorrow which is the 04th of April 25.

I am also happy to come in for an afternoon shift tomorrow if there are any sick calls.

Thank you for your understanding. I attach a notice that was issued to the RTA and can attach further documentation showing that I was not the perpetrator which was seen as to why the police withdrew the complaint which I was not even aware of at the times.

If necessary I can send through a report number which was not filed against me.

Regards,
Cory

Afternoon Cory,

I was unable to make the meeting you placed in my calendar for 05:00 on Monday , the invitation was received at 04:19 and I did not have the opportunity to see it in time to attend. For future reference, my working hours are 7am to 16.30.

I also value the context you have provided regarding the DV leave, this is such a delicate matter and once you have returned to work, we can meet and can discuss this in more detail to get this right for you as I may also require some further information. Until we have caught up, I will apply rec leave, which can be amended as required.

I appreciate managing medical and legal matters can be incredibly stressful and I understand this has likely been a challenging time for you, that said, it is important you provide adequate notice when you are unable to attend the workplace. Chloe has advised me you sent her a text on Thursday 27 March 2025, to let her know you would be returning to work on Monday 31 March 2025 but would require Friday 4 April 2025 off to attend a hearing.

Monday, via email sent at 4:19am, you have advised you will be returning to work on 5 April 2025. The reason for this is you are attending court again today Monday 31 March 2025; can you advise of the following.

You would have been provided with sufficient notice to attend court today, can you advise the reason you did not notify prior to 4:19 today would require today and the remainder of the week off? Other than today and Friday 4 April 2025, where you have advised you will not be in the workplace due to a court attendance and to attend a hearing, what is preventing you from being in work for the remainder of the week?

For noting, you are not rostered to work on Saturday 5 April 2025, your next rostered shift will be Monday 7 April 2025 and will book sometime for us to catch up.

Scott

Good morning Scott,

Following up on your email regarding DV leave, I wanted to provide some context. The situation involves two separate domestic violence orders. Initially, I was the respondent to a temporary order. Subsequently, my ex-partner became the respondent in a new order. During this period, while she was in Perth, I was charged with breaching the now-terminated initial order. The allegations stem directly from our separation, which has made this process particularly challenging.

The past week has been exceptionally stressful. I've been attending psychiatric appointments, therapy sessions with Kathrine Vox through EPAC, and legal consultations.

Today, I need to attend court again for a hearing related to my case. I'd appreciate it if this could be kept confidential among staff.

Despite these circumstances, I am committed to returning to work on the 5th, following the hearing on the 4th.

Thank you for your understanding and discretion in this matter.

Cory

Hey Scott,

The court matter was adjourned due to the cyclone and again at short notice due to some failings. I then had to prepare a civil matter which was referred to the magistrate court for the case against my ex-partner.

I will send some further documentation shortly. I apologize for the confusion caused by the mistakenly scheduled email.

I will be able to return to work on the 5th and will advise any further dates I will need to be away after the hearing tomorrow which is the 04th of April 25.

I am also happy to come in for an afternoon shift tomorrow if there are any sick calls.

Thank you for your understanding. I attach a notice that was issued to the RTA and can attach further documentation showing that I was not the perpetrator which was seen as to why the police withdrew the complaint which I was not even aware of at the times.

If necessary I can send through a report number which was not filed against me.

Regards,
Cory

Afternoon Cory,

I was unable to make the meeting you placed in my calendar for 05:00 on Monday , the invitation was received at 04:19 and I did not have the opportunity to see it in time to attend. For future reference, my working hours are 7am to 16.30.

I also value the context you have provided regarding the DV leave, this is such a delicate matter and once you have returned to work, we can meet and can discuss this in more detail to get this right for you as I may also require some further information. Until we have caught up, I will apply rec leave, which can be amended as required.

I appreciate managing medical and legal matters can be incredibly stressful and I understand this has likely been a challenging time for you, that said, it is important you provide adequate notice when you are unable to attend the workplace. Chloe has advised me you sent her a text on Thursday 27 March 2025, to let her know you would be returning to work on Monday 31 March 2025 but would require Friday 4 April 2025 off to attend a hearing.

Monday, via email sent at 4:19am, you have advised you will be returning to work on 5 April 2025. The reason for this is you are attending court again today Monday 31 March 2025; can you advise of the following.

You would have been provided with sufficient notice to attend court today, can you advise the reason you did not notify prior to 4:19 today would require today and the remainder of the week off? Other than today and Friday 4 April 2025, where you have advised you will not be in the workplace due to a court attendance and to attend a hearing, what is preventing you from being in work for the remainder of the week?

For noting, you are not rostered to work on Saturday 5 April 2025, your next rostered shift will be Monday 7 April 2025 and will book sometime for us to catch up.

Regards
Scott

Good morning Team,

Firstly, I take this opportunity to thank you all for your patience whilst we have been on an extended journey with endeavouring to implement an agreed roster for Switchboard Services, Logan Hospital.

Scott and I have been working in the background with Tammy and HR to collate and incorporate all feedback received from previous processes and I am pleased to release, for consultation, a new proposed roster (attached).

As you will see in the document, consultation and voting for the proposed roster commences today and concludes 8 th December 2024.

I strongly encourage you all to review the proposed roster and ensure you cast your vote as part of the ballot process. You may also provide feedback through the online portal or QR Code.

Should you have any questions and/or concerns throughout this process, please do not hesitate to reach out.

I look forward to working with you all on finalising a new roster for the new year.

Kind regards,
Chloe

Good afternoon,

Just a gentle reminder that you have been invited to attend a meeting with Scott Hughes tomorrow

(2pm) for an opportunity to check in with you to discuss your overall wellbeing including workload, attendance, and any concerns you may have. Chloe Taylor will also be present.

You are welcome to bring a support person or a union representative with you to the meeting. If you could please provide the name of the support person you intend to bring along prior to the meeting that would be appreciated.

Kind regards,

[1/1] Seeking Urgent Guidance and an Impartial Review of a Performance Management Process

Subject: Seeking Urgent Guidance and an Impartial Review of a Performance Management Process

Attachment F (Letter Initiating Performance Plan).zip

To: Ms. Jacquie Roberts, A/Director, HR Business Partnering

From: Cory Shepherd Date: October 3, 2025

Dear Ms. Roberts,

I am writing to you today to respectfully seek your assistance and professional guidance. I am currently facing the initiation of a performance improvement plan that I believe has been developed without consideration of a serious personal crisis I am navigating, and in a manner that feels adversarial rather than supportive.

I have copied my union representative into this email, and they will be supporting me through this process. My goal is to resolve this constructively, and I am hopeful that your impartial review will help clarify the situation and lead to a fair outcome.

My Good-Faith Effort to Follow Policy During a Crisis

Recently, I found myself in a complex and traumatic domestic violence situation. In order to provide what I feel is uncomfortable private, but necessary context, I have attached documentation confirming this is a formal matter before the courts (see Attachment A).

In line with Queensland Health policy, I confidentially informed my Director, Mr. Scott Hughes, on March 12, 2025, and requested Domestic and Family Violence Leave to manage the immediate impacts (see Attachment B).

The response I received on March 28, 2025, was deeply concerning. I was incorrectly advised that as a respondent, I could be "deemed as the perpetrator" and might not be entitled to the leave (see Attachment C). This suggestion is not only in direct contradiction to PSC Directive 03/20, but it is also contrary to the advice I received from the Queensland Police Service, who advised me to seek a protection order for my own safety (see Attachment D).

An Adversarial Approach Despite My Efforts to Be Transparent

Following this distressing interaction, the management approach shifted from what I hoped would be supportive to one of intense monitoring.

Most troublingly, my attempts to provide context have been actively disregarded. The timeline of events on August 27, 2025, is a clear example:

In advance of a scheduled meeting, I proactively emailed Mr. Hughes' office to offer clarifying documents, as I felt it was my responsibility to ensure he had all the relevant facts.

Immediately following my offer, the meeting was cancelled by his office (see Attachment E).

Two weeks later, in his letter initiating the performance plan, Mr. Hughes omitted this and inaccurately stated that I was the sole reason meetings had not occurred (see Attachment F).

It is difficult to understand how a fair performance process can be initiated when my attempts to provide crucial information are first declined and then misrepresented.

Seeking a Constructive Path Forward

I am a competent and committed employee navigating an exceptionally difficult period. I believe the current performance process is unwarranted as it punishes the symptoms of this crisis rather than addressing the root cause with the support our policies provide.

I would be very grateful for your assistance to get this back on a constructive track. I am seeking:

Your help to pause the performance improvement process so a formal and impartial review can be conducted.

An independent review of how my request for leave and confidential disclosures were handled.

Assistance in correcting my leave balance, which I believe was improperly coded.

The opportunity for you to act as an impartial HR contact to help mediate a fair and supportive resolution.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to your guidance.

Sincerely,

Cory Shepherd

Formal Request for Review: Performance Management Process and Handling of Confidential Disclosure

1 message(s) · print-style export (Graph)

penalizes the symptoms of this crisis rather than addressing the root cause with the support mandated by Queensland Health policy.

Proposed Resolution

To resolve this matter constructively, I respectfully request your assistance with the following:

Immediate suspension of the performance improvement process to allow for a formal and impartial review of the circumstances leading to its initiation.

An independent review into management's handling of my confidential disclosure and request for DFV Leave, with specific reference to compliance with PSC Directive 03/20.

A formal audit and correction of my leave balance, which I believe was improperly coded following my request.

Your appointment as an impartial HR intermediary to help mediate a fair, supportive, and policy-compliant path forward.

Thank you for your time and attention to this urgent matter. I look forward to your guidance while moving forward in a constructive manner.

Sincerely,

Cory Shepherd

Hi Cory

Thank you for your email. As I am not the delegate for consideration of these requests, I refer to Scott Hughes, Director, Corporate Services decision where he does not support the request to have your qualification Diploma of Fitness for the targeted training allowance on the grounds that it is not relevant to your current role.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact myself, Scott or HR.

Hi Lauren,

Thank you for your email.

I will follow up with my manager to obtain the written endorsement and will forward this through as soon as it is received.

Please let me know if you require anything further in the meantime.

Kind regards,
Cory Shepherd

Hi Cory,

Thank you for providing that.

Are you able to please send through your manager's endorsement in writing (an email is fine)?

Thank you,

Subject: Consideration of Qualification ? Diploma of Fitness (SIS50210)

Dear EB11IG/ HPDO,

Please find attached my completed Consideration of Qualification to apply for the Targeted Training Fund/Allowance form , requesting consideration for the Diploma of Fitness (SIS50210) to be added to the eligible qualification list. The qualification was completed through Gold Coast Institute of TAFE and is an AQF Diploma qualification ..

This request is made in support of my current role as Switchboard Admin at Logan Hospital . As outlined in the attached submission, I believe the qualification is directly relevant to my current role, duties and responsibilities, particularly in relation to liaison with allied health and multidisciplinary stakeholders, communication, coordination of service functions, workflow management, and safe escalation of matters.

Please also note that I previously sought manager endorsement on 15/09/2025 and am continuing to confirm the appropriate delegate and local HR contact for this request.

To avoid delay, I have attached the completed form and supporting documents directly to this email for consideration.

Attached for consideration are:

Completed Consideration of Qualification form. Attachment 1 - Certified copy of Diploma of Fitness (SIS50210). Attachment 2 ? Qualification Description Skills and Relevant Units

If any further information or supporting documentation is required, please let me know.

Kind regards,
Cory Lea Shepherd

Good morning Cory,

Thank you for sending that through.

HR Policy G13 Attachment 2 ? Eligibility and application process outlines the required steps. Under Step 2, Appropriateness of qualifications, it states that ?the department / HHS is to assess whether the qualification is appropriate and directly relevant to the employee?s current position. Only qualifications that directly contribute to an employee?s ability to perform their current role, duties and responsibilities are to be deemed relevant?.

If your line manager or the relevant delegate determines that the qualification does not align with your current role and does not support the application, we are unable to progress this to the EB12 Committee.

If you believe the qualification is relevant to your role and should be considered, I recommend discussing this further with your line manager and / or your local HR department.

Kind regards,

Hi Lauren,

Thank you for your continued assistance with this application, and for Chloe's email 16 April 2026 relaying Scott?s view.

I just wanted to clarify one procedural point so that we are all on the same page moving forward.

My understanding is that the application I have submitted is a request for a qualification to be considered for inclusion on the endorsed list under HR Policy G13 (QH-POL-240). My understanding is also that these matters are considered through the relevant governance pathway, being the EB12 Implementation Group (EB12IG) and the Operational Stream Oversight Committee (OSOC). I note that some current forms and supporting materials still refer to ?EB11IG/OSOC?, which appears to reflect legacy wording rather than the current agreement terminology.

When I followed up with Chloe on 16 April, I was seeking manager endorsement?that is, support from my manager and colleague?which I understood to be a supportive and procedural input. I did not intend to suggest that the substantive decision on eligibility sits with the line manager or the Director of the department, and I apologise if I inadvertently caused any confusion on that point.

Could I please ask that the application continue to be progressed to the EB12IG/OSOC on the material I have provided? I am very happy to provide any further information the committee may require, and I will of course respond promptly to any requests that come back through the HPDO.

If there is a sub-delegation, local instrument, or other authority that directs these decisions to be made at the HHS level rather than by the committee, a copy would be very helpful for my records so that I can ensure I am engaging the correct process.

Thank you again ? I appreciate everyone?s time and assistance.

Kind regards,

Cory Shepherd

Hi Cory

Thank you for your email. As I am not the delegate for consideration of these requests, I refer to Scott Hughes, Director, Corporate Services decision where he does not support the request to have your qualification Diploma of Fitness for the targeted training allowance on the grounds that it is not relevant to your current role.

If you have any questions, please don?t hesitate to contact myself, Scott or HR.

Chloe
