Hi Cory ,

Thank you for your email and keeping me updated on your situation. Apologies for my lack of response, I have been fully immersed in everything TC Alfred across the Health Service, as you can imagine – and just coming out the other side. Looks like you were unfortunately impacted too.

I am sorry to hear about your ongoing situation, and I can appreciate how it is likely a stressful time for you and appreciate your update in relation to your leave too.

While I normally would prefer to have a face to face catch up with you, as you are currently away, it has made it a little challenging. So please forgive me for highlighting the following via email in the first instance.

I hear you are returning on Monday 31 March 2025, maybe we could organise a time and discuss further then?

I do want to bring you across leave which has been applied for you over your absence from work. To ensure there is no impact to your pay, at this time, other than 18 March 2025 through to 24 March 2025 for which we have a medical certificate, I have applied recreational leave to ensure there is no impact to your pay . However, if this leave type needs to change, this is something we can review and amend if required.

Domestic and Family Violence Leave (DFVL).

you made a request to take DFVL for the period 24 February 2025 to 26 February 2025 to support you through some complications with your ex-partner,. You subsequently shared with me you are the respondent in relation to an order against you from your ex-partner. Based on this information, it would appear you may not be entitled to access DFVL. If you are the respondent to such matters, under our policies, you may be deemed as the perpetrator, and approval of DFVL in these circumstances is only applicable in certain circumstances. For your information, I have attached copies of Directive 03/20 – Support for employees affected by domestic and family violence and HR Policy C73 – Support for employees affected by domestic and family violence, and more than happy to discuss your eligibility of this leave further with you.

As mentioned above, I will apply your recreational leave balances, but this may be subject to change after our discussions.

Along with advising me of the current difficult situation you are facing with your ex-partner, you also let me know you may be charged by the police. I wanted to highlight to you there is a Queensland Health Policy in place which requires you to notify me within 48 if you are charged or convicted with some offenses. The policy I am referring to is HR Policy E4 – Employees to notify supervisor if charged with or convicted of an indictable offence. Please make sure you are across your responsibilities and if you need to declare anything or unsure of anything, let me know and I can get further guidance and advice for you, always best to be on the right side of the policy to make sure you are not breaching any elements, as this may result in disciplinary action.

Ongoing Leave

I have been happy and willing to approve recreational leave for you over the recent weeks, based on your current circumstances and have strived to be considerate of your requests for leave. However, I just need to highlight, requests for recreational leave should ideally be approved in advance as there are many factors Chloe does need to take into consideration when approving recreational leave request, one being operational requirements.

Please let me know if there is anything further I can support you with, and I am pleased to hear you are seeking support from Telus Health. Look forward to seeing you back with the team on Monday.

Regards
Scott
